

DIGITAL Archives

American Antiquarian Society (50 Series) Historical Periodicals Collections

This collection provides digital access to fifty thematic collections of American periodicals published between 1691 and 1877. Included are digitized images of American magazines and journals never before available outside the walls of the AAS, and are not available for acquisition in digital form from any other source.

African American Historical Serials Collection

A product of more than 10 years of organizing and collecting widely-dispersed materials, this collection was developed in conjunction with the American Theological Library Association (ATLA) as part of an effort to preserve endangered serials related to African American religious life and culture. The collection documents the history of African American life and religious organizations from materials published between 1829-1922.

American Revolution Archives

This is a rich resource for anyone interested in the seminal events leading up to the founding of the new nation and of the people involved in these crucial military and political struggles. This collection contains over 4.7 million pages of original historical documents culled from materials at the National Archives that pertain to the Revolutionary War, chronicle military strategies, and recount the lives of individual soldiers.

African American Archives

The African American Archives provides over one million pages of original historical documents pertaining to the African American experience over several centuries, and is richly-detailed with personal stories and narrative accounts. The earliest materials in this collection come from Essential Records Concerning Slavery and Emancipation from the Danish West Indies (1672-1917).

Civil War Primary Source Documents

This comprehensive collection of primary source materials from the New-York Historical Society chronicles various aspects of the American Civil War. Comprised of over 110,000 pages of content from over 400 individual collections, this database captures various accounts of the Civil War as it was experienced on land and at sea.

United States Bureau of Investigation Case File Archives

This collection covers case files from the U.S. government agency later known as the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI). Containing over 2.2 million pages of original historical documents, this archive includes tales of espionage during World War I, case files for German aliens who were politically suspect, and records pertaining to Mexican neutrality.

Native American Archives

The Native American Archives provides more than 1.8 million pages of original historical documents pertaining to Native American history and life from the 18th through the 20th century.

This collection includes ratified treaties that occurred between the U.S. government and American Indian tribes, related correspondence, a chronological list of treaties, and indexes by both place and tribe.

Gain the Most Value from End-of-Year Funds

World War II Archives

This database contains over half a million pages of original historical documents compiled from the National Archives. It chronicles events during the Second World War, providing an in-depth perspective of military activities, while also documenting the lives of individual military personnel on land, in the air, and at sea.

Gateway to North America: The People, Places, and Organizations of 19th-Century New York

Gateway to North America contains over 800,000 pages of content from over 1,500 print and manuscript directories, member lists, and other sources, chronicling the people and organizations of New York City from the late 18th through the early 20th century.

Revolutionary War Era Orderly Books from the New-York Historical Society

This one-of-a-kind collection offers access to Orderly Books found nowhere else. It contains handwritten volumes documenting military orders, movements and engagements by brigade, regiment, company and other specific military units between 1748 and 1817. The content provides detailed accounts of troops' daily lives, documenting everything from court martial cases to the price of necessities charged by locals.

ATLA Historical Monographs Collections, 11 Series

Now available in 11 series, this collection provides more than 29,000 titles focused on religion and theology. This is an invaluable resource for understanding religious thought and practice in the 19th and early 20th centuries. With material dating mostly from 1850 through 1922, it documents a time of great doctrinal, social, and organizational turmoil and upheaval in American culture.

Arte Público Hispanic Historical Collection Series 1

Presenting a digital collection of historical content pertaining to U.S. Hispanic history, literature, and culture, this collection accurately conveys the creative life of U.S. Latinos and Hispanics – shedding new light on the intellectual vigor and traditional values that have characterized them from the earliest moments of this country's history through contemporary times.

Arte Público Hispanic Historical Collection Series 2

This collection presents thematic content focusing on the evolution of Hispanic civil rights, religious thought, and women writers from the late 19th and 20th centuries. Over 250,000 pages of personal and archival manuscript collections are available for viewing – including photographs, letters, diaries, and hundreds of rare Latino-Hispanic newspapers, magazines, and books from throughout the United States.

OWN A PIECE OF HISTORY

EBCSO

Explore

the Past in a New Way with the Historical Digital Archives Viewer

Replicates the experience of browsing and reading original archival material, while simultaneously allowing for keyword searching, manipulation of page views, note-taking capabilities and various download options

The viewer includes a wide range of features and functionality designed to best meet the needs of users:

- Search within documents
- Multiple navigation options (through the Table of Contents, turning pages, or via EBSCO's exclusive Page Map feature)
- Ability to limit results by major information sources and document types to quickly hone in on the most desired content source
- Unique Hover feature allows users to hover over the Result List to view citation excerpts
- Search keywords highlighted in text
- Easy zoom-in for detailed close-up views of documents, and the ability to rotate page images
- View one or two pages simultaneously
- Unique Page Note feature allows users to take notes related to a particular page in the text, save it for future reference, and email it to others
- Cross-search databases on EBSCOhost for related articles and texts

Contact your EBSCO Sales Representative for more information: 1-800-653-2726 or email information@ebSCO.com

www.ebscohost.com/archives

